

Sacred Heart Outing Big Success

Members of the Sacred Heart parish Holy Name society grouped on the steps of Pelham Inn, site of their annual outing yesterday.

The first outing held by the Sacred Heart parish Holy Name society in many years was conducted yesterday at Pelham Inn, N. H., with more than 150 men of the parish and a number of guests in attendance. Features of the day were a buffet luncheon served at noon, a chicken dinner served late in the afternoon and a gala program of sports which featured everything from a peanut race and a pie-eating contest to a grand and glorious 45s tournament.

Members of the society attended the 8:30 o'clock mass yesterday morning and received Holy Communion in a body. The mass was celebrated by Rev. Terence Loftus, O. M. I., while Communion was given by Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I., pastor, and Rev. John Roche, O. M. I., spiritual director of the Holy Name.

After mass, a motorcade of 25 private automobiles, under the escort of Motorcycle Officer Bernard F. Judge, left St. James street in the rear of the church, passed through the city streets and then headed towards Pelham. Arrival at the Inn was the signal for the launching of the sports program which had been carefully arranged by George Brennan and Joseph Mahoney, co-chairmen of the sports committee.

Married Vs. Single
Teams representing the married men and the single fellows lined up on the field with Thomas Hartley as captain of the married men and James Neary leading the bachelors.

In two innings, only one run could be gardener by Neary's men who included Frank Conway, Joe Carragher, "Bunny" Loughran, Hal Shaughnessy, Larry Hartigan, Bernard Ready, Leo Flanagan and Simon Dean, while the married men were able to chalk up three runs. Thereupon, the single men rooters decided to take matters into their own hands, sending in an entire new team, including the McCusker brothers, Ray and Joe, Dick O'Neil, Frank Reardon, Frank Carey, Ed Kennedy, Walter Sheahan, Austin Lyddy and Frank Ward. They even brought their own umpire, Tom Leonard, who ordered Michael Coughlin, arbiter up to that time, to leave the field. The newcomers also chased Joe Mahoney, Sr. and Ted Sheahan from the umpire roles, replacing them with John Boyle and Joe Ready. Protesting also that the married men were using as their pitcher a professional from Waterville, Me., the single men also succeeded in having the scorekeeper, Jim Burns, cancel one of the married men's runs. But with all that rickmarrled, the married men continued to click, batting out a clean but certain win of 7 to 5 with plenty of star work being accounted for by Art Dyer, Fred Buckley, Clem McCarthy (the lad from Waterville) and Capt. Joe Malone of the fire department. It was Malone's one-hand stab which registered the final out of the game and precipitated a free-for-all scramble for the baseballs. Tom Fleming, Andy McLaughlin and Frank Haggerty were reported last night to have hidden them away under one of the outhouses for safe keeping.

Rev. Cantwell in the News

Rev. Edward W. Cantwell, former pastor of the Fifth Street Baptist church here, reached newspaper headlines for the second time in less than a week yesterday, in a scathing attack on the federal government rehabilitation camp for World war veterans at Kingstree, S. C., where the former local pastor now occupies the pulpit of the First Baptist church.

In an article written by a staff reporter from Kingstree, and featured as front page news, the New York Times yesterday quoted Rev. Mr. Cantwell's criticism of the Kingstree camp at some length. The camp, designed as a self-sufficient community for "depression-shocked" veterans and other veterans who are victims of chronic alcoholism, is now engaged in the construction of a golf course at Kingstree, and Rev. Mr. Cantwell's criticism dealt largely with the value of such a project, which he questioned, as well as its cost in comparison with a privately-constructed course of the same sort.

The pastor, who is president of the Kingstree Kiwanis club, was honored last week by being made a colonel on the staff of the governor of South Carolina.

The New York State Aviation commission, functioning since 1930, was organized to study the requirements of aviation, and to install a state system of weather information.

"DISRAELI of CANADA"

CANADA owes its present form of government more to Sir John Alexander Macdonald than to any other single person. Sir John, one of Canada's greatest statesmen and often referred to as the "Disraeli of Canada," was the leading spirit behind the successful confederation of the Canadian provinces in 1867 into one Dominion.

Born in 1815, Sir John was called to the Canadian bar in 1836 and then rose successively from receiver-general to commissioner of crown lands, to attorney general, to leader of the assembly and, by 1862, to minister of military affairs. From 1867 to 1873, he took a leading part in Dominion government as minister of justice and also attorney general. In 1878 he became Premier of Canada and remained at the head of the government until his death in 1891.

When Canada issued a series of stamps in 1927 commemorating the 60th anniversary of the confederation, it included one for Sir John Macdonald, shown here. In addition, Macdonald's portrait is shown, with that of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, on the 12-cent historical stamp also issued in 1927.
