Selection Of Cabinet Slows Down

would have to "wait and see" whether it would produce major developments.

The President-elect went to 10 a.m. mass at St. Edward's Church not far from the oceanfront home of his parents Sunday, then returned to the house to work by long distance telephone with key figures in other parts of the country.

During the afternoon, he planned another round of golf under sunny skies and the temperature in the 80s. He played golf Saturday afternoon with his house guest, Charles Spalding, New York investment banker; Rep. Ross Bass, D.-Tenn. and William H. Lawrence of the New York Times, one of his frequent golfing partners in Florida. Salinger's only explanation for the presence of Bass was that "he came down here to play golf with Senator Kennedy."

His selection of an agriculture secretary has turned out to be almost as knotty a problem as deciding on the "big three," state, defense and treasury. There was a possibility that the agriculture post might not be filled until midweek at the earliest because Kennedy plans to talk over this appointment with some ranking Democrats in Washington during the early part of the week.

The accident occurred at 18th Avenue and 32nd St. W. Schnurr was released on a summons.

Giant Snowstorm Smashes Across Nation, Killing 34

son dropped on Columbus and Southern Ohio.

The Midwest invasion of the storm followed heavy snow warnings, which were posted over the central states snow belt after the storm had powered through Arkansas, Kansas and Missouri, generally dumping three to six inches of snow.

In the East, all roads in western Pennsylvania were covered with snow and ice-slicked. Driving was hazardous. Officials of the Pennsylvania Turnpike urged motorists to stay off the famed superhighway unless travel was absolutely necessary. House trailers and utility trailers were banned from the high-speed route.

First snows on the turnpike ranged in depth up to four to six inches, falling from the Ohio border eastward about 200 miles, and forecasts called for even more snow.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the snow, freezing rain and sleet hitting the East covered a band 100 to 200 miles wide in its original form.

At Washington, D.C., early snow depths ranged from 1.5 inches in southern suburbs and to 4.5 inches in northwest suburbs. About 2.5 inches was reported at Washington National Airport.

Sleet Ices Roads

As the snow spread northward into Pennsylvania and New Jersey, rain and sleet iced roads in the Roanoke - Lynchburg, Va., area, while snow turned to rain at Richmond, turning streets and roads into quagmires of slush.

South of the storm center, the precipitation generally was rain from the central Gulf states into the South Atlantic region. Moderate to heavy rains battered Tennessee and South Carolina.

The eastern advance preview of winter also included bone-chilling temperatures in the northeast, with Buffalo, N.Y., reporting a reading of six degrees below zero Sunday, a record low for the date, weathermen said.

But Colden, N.Y., about 25 miles south of Buffalo, observed a reading of 17 below, the Weather Bureau added.

Other nippy temperatures included Newport, Vermont, 14 below, and Binghamton, N.Y., 8 below. A few zero to minus five-degree readings were also noted in the upper Mississippi Valley early Sunday, with temperatures in the Midwestern storm area generally around the freezing mark.

City Voters Elect Two To Commission Tuesday

In fact, the vote turnout question could well prove a major factor in any reversal of last Tuesday's election.

Cohen is a well-known businessman and cultural leader making his first entry into politics. Hoersting is seeking re-election after serving a three-year term, two years of which he's been mayor.

Anson is owner of the Sarasota Flower Shop, and is seeking re-election. He has served one year on the commission, being elected last December to fill out the unexpired term of Turner, who resigned.

Hendrick is a businessman who has been active in Republican politics for a number of years, and is running under the GOP banner in an effort to introduce partisan politics into city elections, a change that is opposed by the other candidates.

Anson has championed the commission-manager form of government, which Turner challenged. Hendrick, however, has said that he too is in favor of the present system.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and remain open until 7 p.m. Polling places will be the same as they were in the primary.

Commies Increase Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communist block stepped up its aid to underdeveloped nations in 1960 to more than a billion dollars. But U.S. officials are less concerned by these Red efforts than they were two years ago.

State Department figures show the Communist bloc extended $1.35 billion to 20 nations during the first 10 months of this year. For all of 1958—when U.S. diplomats expressed alarm at the Red aid drive—the total was $978 million. This dropped to $922 million in 1959.

Over - all, the figures indicate the Soviet-Red Chinese group has doled out almost $4.6 billion between 1954 and Oct. 31 this year. Since 1958, only three nations have been added to the list—left - leaning Cuba, Ghana and Guinea.

Officials keeping an eye on soviet - bloc efforts do not try to minimize their importance, but they concede that some dark predictions made two years ago proved to be exaggerated.

There were somber hints in 1958 that Soviet technicians were being sent to recipient countries as camouflaged agents whose main aim was to spread the Communist gospel.

Today officials said the State Department is satisfied this is not true.

They described the Soviet experts—and there are hundreds of them in every country receiving bloc aid—as mostly technicians.

U.S. diplomats here now believe that, rather than using its aid program for infiltration the Communist bloc is trying to create an atmosphere of friendliness, to demonstrate the high level of its industry.

Eighteen nations which received $3.22 billion in Communist - bloc aid from 1955 through 1959 got $5.72 billion from the United States in the same period. But the United States began giving aid to these countries in 1948 and since then the total has reached $10.02 billion.

These are the underdeveloped countries which, together with Cuba, Ghana and Guinea, received aid from both the United States and the Soviet Union:

Afghanistan, Iran, Iraq, Turkey, the United Arab Republic, Yeman, Ethiopia, Burma, Cambodia, Ceylon, India, Indonesia, Nepal, Iceland, Yugoslavia, Argentina and Brazil.

Canadians Favor Trade With Castro

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada's opposition party Sunday came out in full support of the government's plans to sell to Cuba the goods it can no longer purchase from the United States because of a U.S. trade embargo.

At the same time, however, opposition leader Lester B. Pearson, in a statement of party policy on the Cuban trade controversy, called for a ban on the sale of "strategic" goods — including arms— to the Fidel Castro regime.

The government remained silent on the question of "strategic" goods. It served notice Friday that Canada would be "happy" to try to fill a $150 million 1961 trade order — 10 times the usual business with Cuba — which a Castro trade mission is seeking here, in Toronto and in Montreal.

In Washington, several U.S. congressmen said they were "shocked" at Canada's seeming readiness to move into the Cuban market that was given up by the United States last October. The U. S. State Department was reported considering a protest.

President Eisenhower, describing Cuba as "communist-controlled," ordered a stop to the sale of all but medical goods and certain other emergency supplies to the island, which once received 75 per cent of its imports from U. S. industry and business.

PRAISE PHILIPPINE EFFORTS

BAGUIO CITY, Philippines (UPI)—Delegates to the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO community development conference Sunday praised Philippine efforts in raising rural standards of living.

The delegates took a two-day, 120-mile tour of isolated villages and were shown animal disease control projects and other community development plans, some of them financed by U. S. aid.

Reds Resume Arms Airlift As Laos Becomes More Pink

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Quinim Pholsena, former minister of information, took over the Laotian government Sunday and moved it lloser to the Communists than at any time since the country became independent six years ago.

The Soviet Union promptly resumed its airlift and reportedly ferried arms and ammunition to this capital, which is encircled by pro-Western forces. Prompt support from neighboring Communist China and North Viet Nam also is expected.

The pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas, who have been harassing successive Laotian governments since 1954 despite hundreds of millions in U. S. military aid to Vientiane aimed at wiping them out, are expected to rally to Quinim's side.

Paratroop Capt. Kong Le, who touched off the current round of civil war by deposing the pro-Western government in a coup Aug. 9, also is obviously in Quinim's camp.

During the three months Prince Souvanna Phouma had headed the now - deposed neutralist government and tried to work out a truce, Kong Le had been crying for battle with rightist and pro-Western forces under Gen. Phoumi Nosavan.

The three other members of Quinam's Cabinet are either outright leftists or inclined that way. The group brought Laos its third change of government in four days, and its assumption of power swept away the neutralist middle ground in Laotian politics.

On the military front, Quinim's takeove also stiffened battle lines between the outnumbered leftist troops defending Vientiane and forces led by Phoumi, whose troops outside the city are awaiting artillery reinforcements.

Military aid from the Communists to Quinim could be airlifted via North Viet Nam, which Quinim visited just before taking power Sunday. He returned promising that troops defending this city would be strengthened with arms from the Communists. During Souvanna's rule, Moscow established diplomatic relations with Laos and promised aid. Soviet planes then began delivering drums of gasoline. The airlift had been cut off during the past few days of chaotic political maneuverings.

Rain Sunday Ends Drought

cloud that has just come right over you."

"Nope," insisted Bacon, "we've just had a trace."

But as Bacon was hanging up the phone a heavy downpour started. The Tampa radar had hit it on the nose.

From 4:30 to 4:40 p.m. .26 inches of rain fell, followed by more later in the evening.

A warning was issued to motorists to beware of slippery streets caused by the relatively slight amount of water on the long-dry highways. A heavier rain, noted Bacon, would have been safer in that it would have washed the roads cleaner of the silt and dust.

One accident, at 4:40 p.m., was directly attributed to the slippery streets. It happened on the South Trail just south of Stickney Point Road. A car driven by Herbert F. Griffith, 54, Clearwater, tried to pass another, according to State Trooper D. L. Coburn, but skidded off the road into a ditch and turned over.

Coburn arrested Griffith for failing to have his car under control. Bond was set at $75. Griffith, the only occupant, was not injured.

Sunday's rain was apparently caused by a cold front moving over the area. Bacon said the high temperature reading Monday is expected to be a cool 68 degrees. Sunday the high was 79 and the low, 66.

Ike Delays Return To Washington

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) —President Eisenhower cancelled plans to return to Washington Sunday because of snow and storms in the nation's capital that might have prevented his plane from landing.

The Chief Executive decided to leave at 8:30 a.m. EST Monday on the return trip.

Air Force Col. William G. Draper, pilot of the presidential plane Columbine III, recommended against departing at 12:30 p.m. EST as planned.

Draper said he was informed that stormy weather in the nation's capital forced commercial planes to circle the field. Landings were interrupted for several periods Sunday morning, Draper was told.

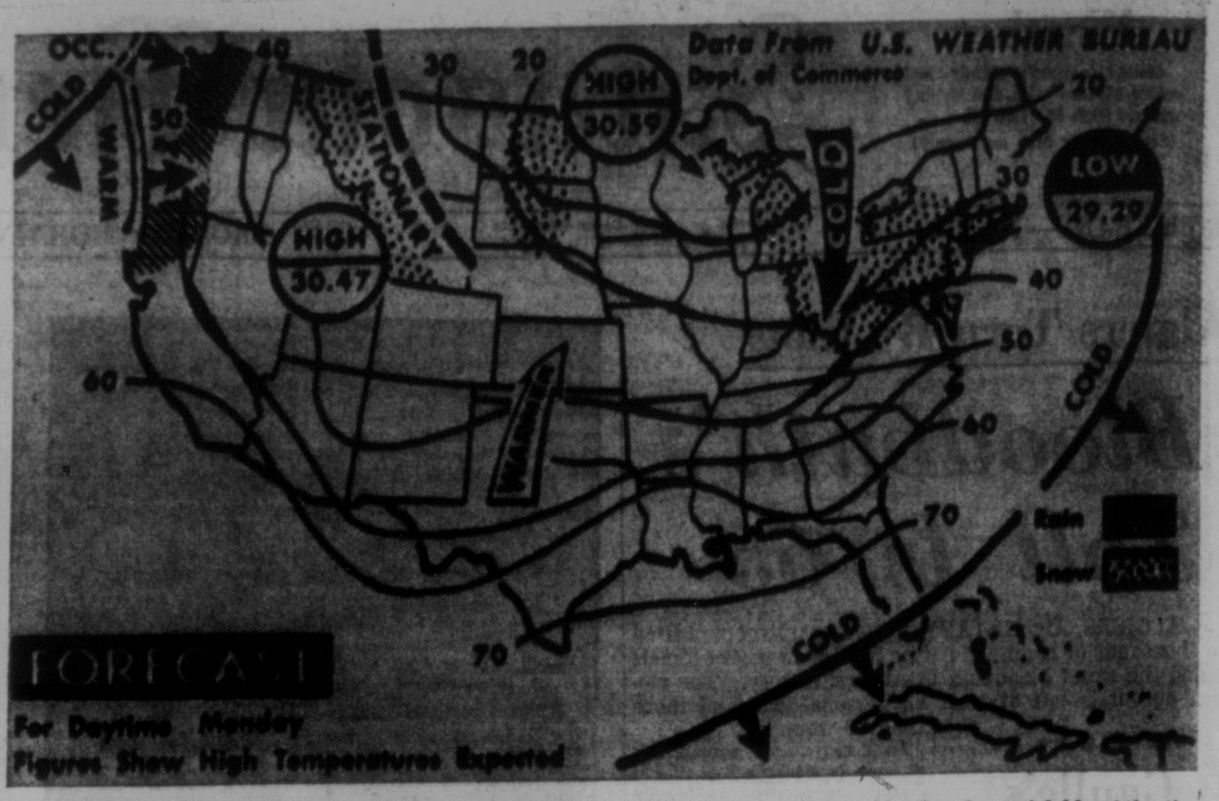
Steady rain in Augusta Sunday morning kept the President indoors at the Augusta National Golf Club, where he is relaxing this weekend. But the President went out to play another round of golf about 1 p.m. EST. The rain had stopped by that time and he toured the course in 65-degree weather under cloudy skies.

Car-Truck Crash Takes Lives Of 5

RUSTON, La. (AP)—The death toll from a car-truck collision on a rain-slick bridge in northern Louisiana rose to five Sunday with the death of Pamela Holder, 13, of Shreveport.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Holder, were killed in the crash Saturday along with both her maternal and paternal grandmothers, Estelle Marshall and Lena Holder, both of Jackson, Miss.

Ike Norrell of El Dorado, Ark., driver of the truck, said the Holder car veered out of control on a dangerous S - shaped bridge and crashed under the rear of the truck. Norrell was not hurt.



FORECAST FOR TODAY—Occasional snow and snow flurries are forecast Monday for middle Atlantic states, north and central Appalachians and the Lakes region. Light snow also is expected in the Dakotas and northern Rockies with occasional rain and showers along Pacific coast from Washington to northern California. Generally fair weather will be the rule over the remainder of the country. It will be on the cold side east of the Mississippi Valley while somewhat warmer weather is slated for south and central plains. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

7 Accidents Probed Here After Rain

Shortly after it began to rain yesterday, the traffic accidents began piling up.

City police reported seven within the space of about five hours.

Although there were no injuries, damages mounted into the hundreds of dollars.

At 4:12 p.m. Robert Donald Johnson, 21, of 6215 5th St. W., Bradenton, was involved in an accident with Jack Ralph Bauman of 5923 Holywood Blvd., and was charged with careless driving and was released on a summons. Damages totaled some $130.

A short while later Leonard Howle Meatayer, 1166 Cocoanut Ave., collided with Bonnie Phillips, 4650 Lockwood Ridge Rd., at 6th Street and US-41, causing damages estimated at $200. No arrest has been made; the accident is still under investigation.

At 5:10 p.m. Jackie Roscoe Holt of 1235 2nd St., reported that his car had been struck while it was parked in front of 1333 3rd St., receiving about $50 damage.

In another accident Ralph Papa, 517 S. Shade Ave., came to the station and reported that he had run into another car at Orange Avenue and US-41, causing about $150 damage to his car. The other car was allegedly driven by Oscar A. L. Deman, 429 8th Ave., Palmetto. Damage to his car was estimated at $10.

There was no arrest.

At 6 p.m. an accident was investigated on the John Ringling Causeway in which Doris L. Anders, 54, of the Sarasota Mobilehome Park was charged with improperly changing lanes.

She reported she tried to miss a puddle of water and turned into another car driven by John William Faltz of 2619 Webber St. Total damages were about $50.

Charged with driving while intoxicated in another accident was Max Otto Kessling, 62, of 1275 3rd St., whose car collided with one driven by John Frankl of 1447 15th St.

The accident occurred at 27th Street and the SAL tracks, causing damages estimated at $500.

Gov. Collins To Move Out

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Dec. 11 (AP)—The movingest first family in Florida's political history is packing for another shift in residences.

Gov. LeRoy Collins and his familly will move out of the executive mansion, probably within the next 10 days, to make room for the new tenants, the Bryants of Ocala, who will take possession officially Jan. 3. That's the day Collins becomes an ex-governor and Farris Bryant becomes governor.

One of the emoluments of the governor's office is the official resident, rent-free, furnished and staffed with servants.

The brunt of the moving job falls upon Mary Call Collins, the outgoing governor's wife who has reigned as mistress of the official residence these past six years. The governor is too busy with details of winding up his administration to be of much assistance in the moving job.

However, it is reoprted reliably that he is handling one phase of the moving job himself: in fact, refuses all offers of help. That's sorting and packing his fishing and hunting gear.

The moving job might appear simple since it involved a trip of only a couple of hundred yards to the Grove, the columned, red brick ante-bellum mansion built by territorial Gov. Richard Keith Call, the great-great-grandfather of Mary Call Collins.

But it's not so simple. There are linens, clothes, family pictures, scores of mementoes of six years in the governorship. Then, too, the very closeness of the Grove complicated the situation. It was so easy to carry over to the mansion a treasured item that Mrs. Collins took many things from home.

In addition to her packing, Mrs. Collins has another rough job — inventory. Part of her moving job is checking every item to determine what belongs to the Collinses and what belongs to the state.
